

"It's all about the horse..."

At Cedarbrook Veterinary Care we strive to maximize the quality of life for our equine patients by providing quality holistic veterinary health care paying the utmost attention to the individual needs of our equine clients and their guardians through compassionate care and integrity.

Our full service equine clinic offers an integrative approach to veterinary medicine utilizing both western and alternative medicine modalities. We take into consideration all aspects of each patient's life as part of a holistic approach. We address our patients' living environment, hoof care, training/exercise, nutrition and daily care during physical examinations.

Cedarbrook Veterinary Care has two holistic veterinarians to serve your equine's needs:

Dr. Hannah Mueller

Dr. Penny Lloyd

A Special Partnership!

Northwest Equine Stewardship Center (NWESC) is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing professional level care (veterinary, hoof care, training, etc.) to rescue horses. Cedarbrook Veterinary Care works closely with NWESC, a program co-founded by Dr. Hannah Mueller, in partnering to provide veterinary and rehabilitative care for equine in our community.

Founded in 2008, Northwest Equine Stewardship Center works together with local equine rescue organizations to help neglected and abused horses get the care they need and find forever homes. Their focus is on the professional level rehabilitation of rescue horses and they rely on the dedicated work of local horse rescue organizations to take on the long-term responsibility of horses in need and to find forever homes once they have been rehabilitated.

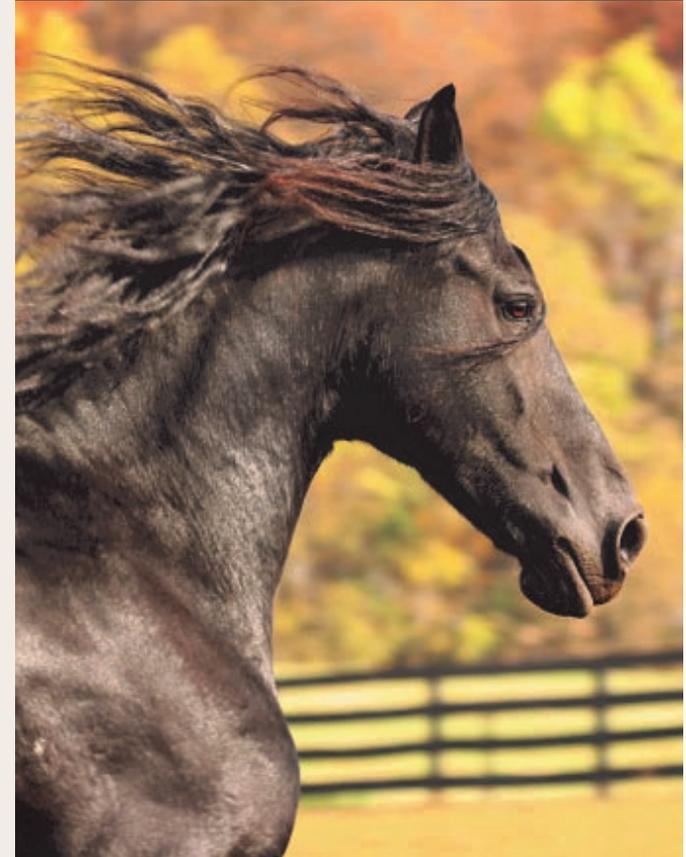

Beyond rescue horse rehabilitation, NWESC is also committed to building programs that provide educational and therapeutic opportunities for people and promotes the prevention of unwanted horses and neglect. For this reason NWESC offers a comprehensive educational program along with ongoing events and clinics as well as providing unique, hands-on learning opportunities for veterinary and vet tech / assistant students in which students are able to gain real-life experience with horses in need - a win-win situation!

NWESC strives to bring the horse community together and form a network of concerned stewards working cohesively toward a solution to the problem of animal abuse and neglect. Through the partnership with Cedarbrook Veterinary Care, both programs operate out of Cedarbrook Farms.

For more information on NWESC, please check out their website at www.nwesc.org.

Quality Care in a Serene Setting

Our beautiful 60-acre facility allows us to take on short term and long term veterinary rehabilitation cases and makes utilizing frequent intervals of acupuncture, chiropractic and other forms of healing and physical therapy feasible.

This facility also makes it possible for us to hold teaching and bodywork clinics and Equine Yoga Classes for clients and their horses.

We are conveniently located about 5 miles out of downtown Monroe and the facility includes a 70x130 indoor arena, 2 round pens, 6 stall barn with heated offices, multiple pastures with 4-rail wood fencing and loafing sheds, and wooded trails.

Compassionate Equine Care that's Cutting Edge

Cedarbrook Veterinary Care, the foremost holistic equine clinic in western Washington, is staffed with renowned doctors who are highly respected in their specialties and on the cutting edge of holistic medical procedures and treatments.

Our Services

When you choose Cedarbrook Veterinary Care for your horse, you are assured that your horse's care, from critical care to routine, will be handled by our outstanding doctors who have been recognized as the best in their fields. With referral services when necessary.

Cedarbrook Veterinary Care's doctors and staff have owned horses and worked alongside them for much of their lives. For them, caring for horses is a natural extension of the bond they have with their own animals. Treating pleasure horses, performance horses and every horse in between is more than just a chosen career for the doctors...it is their passion.

Our doctors specialize in a wide range of equine modalities, with the exception of reproduction work, and includes:

- Advanced Equine Dentistry
- Chiropractic
- Acupuncture
- Diagnostic Imaging
- Pre-Purchase Exams
- Emergency Services
- Podiatry
- Preventative Maintenance
- Nutritional Counseling
- Rehabilitative Boarding
- Sports Medicine/Lameness
- Minor Soft Tissue Surgery
- Internal Medicine
- Equine Yoga

Please keep in mind that many equine services can be not only at our clinic, but also during farm calls, which allow horses to be evaluated in an environment that is familiar and comfortable for them.

Cedarbrook Veterinary Care strives to accommodate our valued clients in any way that we can. For this reason we offer some additional services that we have found to be valuable to our equine and companion animal clients. These additional services are offered on a limited basis and are based on availability and include:

- Companion Animal Services - limited on-site chiropractic and acupuncture services for your companion animal.
- Short-Term Boarding - veterinary supervised boarding for vacation stays.

Our Practice Thrives >>>

On a combination of holistic modalities rather than just considering alternative vs. traditional medicines. Our 'holistic' practice fully encompasses the word – we strive to be all inclusive and provide for the complete high quality care for all aspects of the whole patient—mind, body, herd, nutrition, fitness, etc. The balancing of these energies for fitness/bodywork avails our vets to a higher understanding for veterinary services, bio-mechanics, physical therapy and the like. This experience and intention strengthens our veterinarian's perception and evaluation abilities to discern both the physical and energy potential of our patients.
